

The mission of the College of Education is to prepare caring and committed education professionals who practice exemplary craft, exhibit attitudes and values worthy of emulation, foster collaborative relationships to improve the lives of others and demonstrate the knowledge essential to the teaching profession.

The Educational Leadership Program is consistently ranked as one of the most effective educator preparation programs in the state of Tennessee and the nation. The program is offered online, asynchronously and can be completed in four semesters. Candidates gain the knowledge of a real-world, applicable approach to leadership development through immersive authentic learning experiences and learn from practitioners in the field. The Educational Leadership Program is aligned to the Professional Standards for Educational Leaders (PSEL) and Tennessee Instructional Leadership Standards (TILS). The program includes an explicit focus on relevant and applicable leadership skills and character development for school leaders to lead flourishing communities. Our rigorous program challenges and equips you to lead with character and virtue ethics as you make decisions through practical wisdom and implement effective strategies to manage change that results in the highest educational achievements. Candidates in the Educational Leadership Program will take courses taught by current practitioners at the school, district, or state level with a first-hand perspective on school leadership. Each candidate participates in authentic learning experiences and engages in formative leadership conversations in three mentorship courses in the program. The program includes a research requirement that prepares candidates for leadership roles in which they will develop and monitor approaches for change at the school or district level. Candidates will graduate with a degree in Educational Leadership and earn the Tennessee Instructional Leader License (ILL) upon satisfactory completion of all program requirements and passing the School Leader Licensure Assessment (SLLA).
